Attention of color anodized parts!

Points to note when using color anodized specifications.

Please be sure to read it.

Never use alkaline or acidic detergents as they may cause color peeling and stains.

Due to physical contact or the effects of ultraviolet rays, discoloration occurs regardless of the usage period.

In addition, the discoloration situation differs depending on the material of each part.

In particular, please note that edges (corners and sharp points) have very thin surface coatings and will lose color due to rubbing.

Spots may occur due to the adhesion of vaporized brake fluid.
